Europe (1999)

By Roberto Unger

I. Public Empresarios, Co-operative Agriculture, and Capitalist Dynamics with a Keynesian problem, which unfortunately bureaucratizes in large fiscal deficits and plans the wrong plan

In fact Europe is a mixed-economic structure, which though is pristine, like Spain and France – it is though advanced capitalism – the best logic is Spanish capitalism, which organises its efficiency against the state and creates a set of international financial linkages to produce a syntax of movements –

Syntactically then – first he produces his process of management and public empresario linked developments which then is the mixed-factor, which then organises according to Sirohi helps Fiscal planning which then is a shared plan which syntactically develops the automobile and manufacturing sector and organises PCE strikes and then organises a set of arguments for retail which then is important in architectural Madrid and flows also rates which is another mixed-factor which then syntactically develops into hotels for the capitalist independently with cinema for the capitalist again – the whole syntactical matrix then is too leadership dependent in Nunes which is supposed to be dynamic like EU related conversations.

II. Althusser

The problematic is then my vision of public and private dynamics peculiar to Spanish capitalism – I argue with Sirohi that one can read it in line with New Left Review which is a new note (2024) – just compare the Graeco-Roman agrarian structure, and even merchant capitalist structure, and forms of trade which are complex and mediated by the government which then is finally in modern syntax the above.

I call it a Madrid architectural spandrel from 1999, just walking streets, contours of fashion and cinema halls which all has to be shifted to financial discussion between EU and capitalists with the prudent financial state plan of empresarios and co-operatives and a PCE format for ethical living.
